

Do not replace the Wisconsin no-call law in any way or in particular, with a federal law that allows companies to telemarket former customers for up to 18 months after cancellation of services.